

An industrial platform within Romania's context is a former industrial production site where the old romanian plants used to produce different products at a very large scale. Nowadays, most of these plants are not functioning anymore, but the large and industrial-like utility infrastructure is still there and ready to be used. Also, these former industrial sites have an impressive land availability.

The North-East Region of Romania combines several industrial platforms as follows:

STValea76 - Industrial Platform (Neamt County)
